"A canning factory could be started in Wilson for $1,500 and it will do a good business. Oh! for a better spirit of enterprise that will strike out in a new place."—Wilson Advance.

Two battle flags of the Fifth Pennsylvania Calvary came into the possession of Senator Wade Hampton during the Civil War, and he has just returned them to their original owners. It was a very un-Foraker-like act.—N. Y. Star.

Newspapers indicate very clearly the condition of society. —Mrs. Spencer in First Steps in North Carolina History.

Then THE CAUCASIAN indicates the condition of society in Sampson, so rally to its support and let us make a creditable showing to the outside world.

The business men of Salisbury have raised a large sum of money to be used in advertising their town. In the meantime THE CAUCASIAN is doing all it can to let the world know what we are and what we are doing in Sampson. Let every one assist us by subscribing for the paper and advertising his business.

President Harrison, like Cleveland in '84 is taking his time in removing office-holders of the opposite party and replacing them with men of his own party, and certain Republicans have begun to call him a "mugwump" as certain Democrats did Cleveland, in the early part of his administration. We have only to hope he will be such a mugwump as Cleveland.

We heard the question asked, a few days since: "Why do girls wear bangs?" This is a question that has often suggested itself to us, and we dislike the unbecoming adornment(?) so much that we are constrained to "speak out in meeting," and give what we believe to be the answer. The great majority of Eve's daughters are not blessed with a beautiful brow, indeed it is a rare possession. Hence the "bangs." But there are not many with very ugly foreheads. Then let us have the bang only as a veil to a defect, as a screen to ugliness. Those with pretty foreheads, who wear them, we suppose do it out of compassion for their less fortunate sisters.

King Milan, of Servia, has abdicated his throne. This fact within itself is of no importance, but the result may be tremendous. The great question of who shall control the Balkan peninsula, which has disturbed all Europe for two decades, is virtually reopened. and it may require a gigantic war, into which all the European nations will be drawn on one side or the other to settle the matter. Russia is greedy for control, England. Germany and Austria are jealous of the growing and encroaching power of Russia, while France would probably join Russia out of spite to her neighbors.

Hon. W. R. Boardman of Galveston, Texas, while talking to a New York reporter the other day about the abundance of game and fish along the coast of Texas, said:

"Heretofore we caught them and sold them in our own market, but it occurred one day to a shrewd fellow that a great deal of money lay in canning them the same as the Chicago cattle princes can meat. The new industry has been remarkably successful, and now does a trade close on to a million of dollars a year. We sent turtle steaks, turtle soup, turtle eggs, canned turtle and many other kinds of canned goods to all parts of the United States, Mexico and Central America, South America and Europe."

A word to the wise is sufficient. Is all the stock for our Clinton Canning Factory subscribed yet?

HOW TO STOP A PAPER.

(Scotland Neck Democrat.)

The following, from one of our exchanges, so fully and clearly expresses our views on the subject, that we copy it without comment: You have an undoubted right to stop your newspaper when you feel disposed, upon payment of all arrearages. Do not hesitate to do so on account of "tenderness" to the editor. If you are not getting the worth of your money or think the editor is not doing his duty that he is not showing for the improvement progress and deudopment of his town, county and State, then it is your duty to stop it. Don't you suppose the editor would quit buying sugar of the merchant, or meat, clothing, dry good, &c, if he thought he was not getting his money's worth and why should you not exercise the same privilege with him? And when you discontinue a paper, do it manfully. Don't be so spiteful as to throw it back to the postmaster with a contemptuous "I don't want it any longer!" and have "refused" written on the margin, and have the paper returned to the editor. No gentleman ever stopped it that way, no matter if his head is covered with gray hairs that should be honorable. If you do not longer wish to receive a newspaper write a note to the editor like a man, saying so—and be sure that arrearages are paid. This is the way to stop a newspaper. —New Era.

The above applies to papers in general, but not exactly to home papers in every respect. Every man should have enough of county pride to desire to have his county paper prosper. If the paper is not just what you would like to see it, then suggest to the editor how he could improve it, and we are sure your suggestions will be kindly and gratefully received. It may be that he can't make such improvements in the paper as he himself knows should be made, for the want of proper support. Then assist him in every way you can, especially by increasing his subscription list. Do this, and the editor, if he is the right kind of a man, will give you a paper of which you will be proud, and one which your family can ill afford to do without.

There is one other view of the situation. We have often heard persons say, "I can get the New York Herald or Atlanta Constitution (or probably some other paper) for $1.00 or $1.25 a year, while my county paper, which hasn't so much reading matter costs $1.50." Now it is true that these large papers often cost less and probably contain some matter which you enjoy reading that your home paper hasn't room for, but when you take such papers to the exclusion of your home paper, stop and think of what you are doing. You are sending your money out of the State and contributing to support a paper that is (in nine cases out of ten) devoted to building up some other section —a paper which does not, will not, and cannot do anything for the improvement of the section or the development of the special industries of the section of the world where you were born, raised, live and expect to die. Your home paper alone can do this, in fact, this is the chief mission of a home paper. When you have any special interest to promote or advocate, or anything to say to the outside world it is through your home paper that you must do it. Then give it your encouragement and support so that it may have more power and influence—be better able to accomplish good. And, besides, these large papers always contain so much of crimes, casualties and sensations that it is not advisable to put them in the hands of your children; and if you read such papers yourself you will have to waste your time and read through column upon column of matter to find out what your home paper will condense and give to you in ten lines.

In short, it is every citizens duty to encourage and support his home paper, a duty from which no good citizen can or should desire to excuse himself.

THE UPS AND DOWNS

OF THE NEW ADMINISTRATION.

Wanamaker Knows the Value of Advertising.--Little Men in Big Places.

JUSTICE STANLEY MATTHEWS DEAD.

[Reg. Cor. CAUCASIAN.]

Washington, March 26, 1889.

President Harrison doubtless feels that having been elected solely because he was a grandson he is obliged to recognize the claims of the sons of eminent fathers. It was for that reason probably that he gave Walker Blaine his present prominent position and has now nominated Fred Grant to be United States Minister to Austria. But no matter what influences caused him to make these appointments it is truly to be hoped that he will make no more of the same sort. Neither of these young men have ever succeeded in making a living for themselves, and while there would be little objection to giving them $2,000 positions, there is a very decided objection to seeing them given positions out of all proportions to any ability ever displayed by them.

Mr. John C. New, Dudley's partner in the Indiana steal, has gotten his reward. He has been appointed Consul General of the United Stated at London, a position which is said to pay better than any other under this Government.

And Whitelaw Reid, the editor of the New York Tribune, has obtained the wish of his heart. He has been nominated Minister to France. His appointment has stirred up considerable feeling among a certain class of Republicans who have never forgiven him or the Tribune for supporting Greely in 1842. It is also remembered that in 1876 Reid in his fight on Blaine printed the Mulligan letters and everything else discreditable to Blaine that he could get hold of. However, if Blaine can forgive him, all others may hold their peace. The Senate confirmed his nomination by a bare majority only. If three Democrats had not voted for him he would not have been confirmed.

Wanamaker poses as head of the Postoffice Department but Clarkson is expected to do the work. The office of the Postmaster General is nothing more than the private office of John Wanamaker's Philadelphia store. The two are connected by a private telegraph wire so that "cheap John" may be kept informed as to the state of business at the "five cent counter" and other bargain departments of his establishment. A gentleman who has known Wanamaker intimately for many years says of his appointment to the Cabinet "John Wanamaker knows the value of newspaper advertising better than any man living, with probably the single exception of P.T.Barnum and the whole business from the $100,000 campaign contribution to the present is, I am satisfied, regarded by him as a strictly business transaction whereby he pays out so much money and obtains in return an unlimited amount of valuable advertising in every newspaper in the United States. He don't care a snap about being Postmaster General except for the newspaper advertising it gives him. When his name begins to drop out of the papers during the coming dull season, I expect to see him create a big sensation by having some sort of a row in the Cabinet and then resigning, thus giving himself another boom in the advertising line. "Wanamaker's first appointments were ex-Postmaster General Tyner, of Indiana, to be Assistant Attorney General for the Postoffice Department and J. Lowrie Bell, of Pennsylvania, to be Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service.

The Republican "clean sweepers" are already disgusted with Harrison for his slowness in making appointments. They are particular as to where they do their complaining as they are not anxious to have them get back to the White House just yet. They still hope.

The latest Republican scheme for reducing the Treasury surplus is to double the salaries of Senators and Representives. The Senate has been already abounded on this question, and it is in favor of it, as might be expected.

The employees of the Agricultural Department have presented ex-Secretary Coleman with a handsome antique oak hall clock, eight feet high, as a token of the esteem in which he is held by them.

Harrison and Blaine are, in the language of the street urchin, "in the soup." The trouble came through the nomination of Eugene Schuyler to the Assistant Secretary of State. A more objectionable man to the Senate it would be hard to find, add it is surprising that the President and Mr. Blaine should not have known this Schuyler's principal offense was a book called "American Diplomacy," written by him some years ago, in which he took occasion to criticize Gen. Grant then President, in a very severe manner, also Mr. Washburne, at that time Minister to France, and also the Senate of the United States. The President was informed that the nomination would be rejected unless withdrawn. Blaine cabled the fact to Schuyler who is in Europe, and the latter declined the nomination.

The U. S. Supreme Court is in mourning over the death of Justice Stanley Matthews. Judge Gresham or Secretary Miller will probably be appointed to fill the vacancy.

THE HUCKLEBERRY BILL.

We give below the full text of Dr. Murphy's bill with regard the huckleberry and other wild fruits as passed by the Legislature.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do Enact:

SECTION 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person to enter upon the lands of another for the purpose of gathering and removing therefrom any whortleberries, dog tongue (vanilla plant) or any other fruits or marketable products of the soil without first obtaining the consent of the land owner.

SECTION 2. That any person violating section 1 of this Act shall upon conviction be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars nor imprisoned more than thirty days.

SECTION 3. This Act shall apply only to the counties of Sampson and Duplin.

SECTION 4. This Act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

A BOY'S COMPOSITION ON GIRLS.

(Carthage Blade.)

The following amusing composition written by some one of the smart youth of Carthage, and which was doubtless intended to be read at school, was picked up on the street last Friday by a Blade reporter: "Girls is strange animals, not so big as their mamm'as, least ways they aint till they get grown. Most of them awful stuck up and wears bussels and cossets. Their bussels is sometimes bigger'n they is, and I never could see no good in'em, cepten to set down on. Girls thinks they is mighty smart, and they get grown at 12, and chews chewing gum and looks sorter like a cow chawing her cud. Some girls is pretty and some is ugly, mostly ugly. But all of them think they is pretty and puts on airs and powders and paints and wants to get married. Girls aint got much sense cause they loves boys and boys dont care nothing bout them. I'm mighty glad I aint a girl cause they can't go in swimming and have fun like boys. And this is all I no about girls' cept my girl, and she's a daisy."

AS TO BREATHING.

(Youth's Companion.)

The following heretofore unheard of information in regard to the breath and breathing was made public in Kentucky recently by a school boy of twelve years, who wrote an essay on the subject.

We breathe with our lungs, our lights our kidneys and our liver. If it wasn't for our breath we would die when we slept. Our breath keeps the life a-going through the nose when we are asleep.

Boys who stay in a room all day should not breathe. They should wait until they get out in the fresh air. Boys in a room make bad air called carbonicide. Corbonicide is a poison as mad dogs. A lot of soldiers were once in a black hole in Calcutta and carbonicide got in there and killed them.

Girls sometimes ruin the breath with corsets that squeezes the diagram. A big diagram is the best for the right kind of breathing.

THE DIFFERENCE.

TWO FARMERS LIVE UNDER THE SAME CONDITIONS, ONE SEES HARD TIMES, THE OTHER DOES NOT.

TO WHICH CLASS DO YOU BELONG?

The following, from the Progressive Farmer, is somewhat on the very line we have been writing. We copy it to endorse it:

FARMER NO 1.

The first selects his best land for cotton. Depends on commercial fertilizers. Buys his meat, bread, hay, fertilizers and everything on a credit at ruinous profits. Is driven from the first of January to the last day of the year by his cotton crop, to the neglect of the improvement of his land, the improvement of of his stock, houses, fences, &c. He is in debt, interest is accumulating and he feels that he must be able to count so many dollars in greenbacks as the proceeds of his crop. His idea of good and successful farming is to see at the end of the year a certain amount of money in actual cash as the result of his labor. He does not calculate the ruinous cost at which this money is made. He does not see that for every dollar he thus receives, he has had paid one hundred and fifty cents. But he sits down at the end of the year in a cheerless home wearied and dispirited and surrounded by ignorant children and complains to his faithful and overworked wife that the merchants have ruined him, that the seasons have been against him and that he is living in the poorest State in the Union. He has worked hard, his family has worked hard and they have lived hard, but his money is all gone and he still is unable to lift the all devouring mortgage. That man and his family are slaves.

FARMER NO. 2.

The second starts out by fixing in his mind the determination to keep out of debt and to raise his own supplies. He does not believe that a farmer can get rich in one, or five, or ten years. He does believe that he can gain and improve every year. He knows that mankind must have something besides cotton. He believes that if his land and stock and houses, orchards and other comforts of home are improved every year, that he is accumulating wealth in its most solid and useful form, whether he ever produces a single bale of cotton or not. If he makes his own fertilizers, raises his own meat, bread, hay and stock and multiplies the little comforts which go to make a home of pleasure and happiness and finds at the end of the year that his property has doubled in value, he has done well, although during that time he has not had at any one time as much as one hundred dollars in actual cash. He has time to sow grass and clover, wheat, oats and rye. He has time to look after his cattle, hogs and sheep. He has time to make manure and to improve his lands. He has time to keep his buildings, shelters, &c, in repair and to add to them. He has time to look after his orchard and other fruits. His wife, dear, devoted woman, instead of wearing out her life in cooking for a lot of negroes to work cotton, has time to look after the adornment and beautifying of her home, to attend to her milk and butter, eggs, garden, bees, chickens and other poultry, and with all this they have a little time to spare socially with their neighbors and to go to church. Such a man is a freeman. He is an honor to his calling. His life and methods elevate and dignify the vocation. He has demonstrated to his boys that farming is not necessarily a life of drudgery and slavery. He thus educates his girls that the bronzed cheek of the farmer-boy sweetheart is not a badge of dishonor. Here is a picture of two classes of farmers. To which, dear reader, do you belong?

FASHION NOTES.

Recently made pocket handkerchiefs are very pretty and highly ornamented.

Morning dresses and tea gowns are now made with a band of fur down the front.

New muslin underwear is remarkable for the profusion of rich laces and tucks which decorate it.

STRAY BITS OF LIFE,

As Pictured by the Press.

Citizen (to Uncle Rastus). "So that is the woman you're going to marry, is it, Uncle Rastus?"

Uncle Rastus.—"Yes, sah, dat am de lady. She yaint much to look at."

"Citizen.—"Well, no, not very much, Uncle Rastus."

Uncle Rastus.—"But she hab got forty-seben dollahs in de bank, boss, an' she hab promised to gib me de power ob attorney-generalship."—Harper's Bazar.

I.—BEFORE MARRIAGE.
His heart o'erflows with happiness,
And an ecstatic thrill
Runs through his very being, as
He hears her sweet, "I will."

II.—AFTER MARRIAGE.
Alas! his heart is heavy now,
The world seems dark and chill;
The second time in life he's met
A fragile woman's will.
—Somerville Journal.

She (tremulously)—George, pa threatens to turn off the gas if you stay after 10 o'clock tonight.

He (delightedly)—Let him, let him!—Boston Courier.

'Tis evidence quite certain,
Of a wooing rather rash,
When you see a tinge of powder
On a young man's dark mustache.
—Mer. Trav.

Miss Travis.—Don't you think my dress is too sweet for anything?

Miss DeSmith. Oh, lovely—exquisite! I do believe your dressmaker could make a bean pole look graceful.—Burlington Free Press.

Robbie (returning from school after a history lesson)—"Mamma was Charles II. an Episcopalian?" "No, my son. Why did you ask that?" "Well, the history says he did things he ought not to have done, and left undone things he ought to have done, and so I supposed he must be." —Christian Register.

NOT IN THIS GENERATION.

Blotterwick—I see that the bustle is no longer worn.

His wife--Where did you see that, my dear.

Blotterwick (meekly)—Well, when you see it in the streets let me know.

DIFFICULT TO TELL.

Passenger (train just passing out of a tunnel)—What a peculiarly sour expression that young lady ahead has!

Companion—Yes; she's evidently mad because the young man with her kissed her coming through the tunnel, or may be she is mad because he didn't kiss her.—Epoch.

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT.

Mr. Fickleby--Do know, Miss Dewitt, you looked charming at the ball the other night?

Miss Dewitt—Nonsense; I don't believe it.

Mr. Fickleby—Oh, but you did. Actually, I didn't recognize you at first.—Buffalo Courier.

THE COMING CENTENNIAL.

The approaching commemoration of Washington's inauguration promises to offer one of the most imposing spectacles ever beheld in New York. It is said that all of the original thirteen States, together with most of those admitted since the adoption of the Constitution, have agreed to take part in the parade. According to the estimate of the committee having charge of this feature of the celebration, there will be upwards of fifty thousand citizen soldiers in line, or about thrice as many as Washington ever marshaled in one body during the Revolutionary war. A still more impressive contrast to the state of things a hundred years ago, will be presented by the industrial procession. When New York was made the first seat of the new Federal Government, it was but an insignificant town, without much foreign commerce, and with scarcely any native manufactures. Now, as a commercial centre, it is second only to the British metropolis, while, whether we look to the volume, variety or value of its products, it is one of the foremost manufacturing cities of the world. If we consider population, the thirteen colonies had in 1889 fewer inhabitants than are now concentrated within the circuit of a hundred miles' radius around the New York City Hall. To appreciate the magnitude of the changes wrought in the space of a single century, everybody who expects to witness the commemorative ceremonies would do well to read the first chapters of McMaster's history of the American people, and the relevant sections of Mrs. Lamb's history of New York.—Once a Week.

OUR FARMERS' COLUMN.

SOMETHING INTERESTING TO THOSE WHO TILL THE SOIL.

☞So many agricultural papers are published and articles written by men, who have little or no practical experience as farmers, that information and suggestions through such mediums have fallen into disrepute, and does but little good. In view of this fact, we wish to get the views and tested plans of practical farmers for this column each week. So farmers, send in an account of your success in any branch of Agriculture, for the benefit of the fraternity.☜

FERTILIZERS CONTINUED.

Compost.

We give you this week four formulas for making compost, suitable for corn and cotton, which have proven successful.

J. W. Powell, of Nash county, used the following:

Ditch bank,	75 loads
Stable manure,	40 bushels.
Cotton seed,	26 bushels.

Uses the above amount on about 75 acres. Intends putting cotton seed and lime on 40 acres that had cow peas on. Is increasing his stock as rapidly as possible so as to make all manure at home.

The Experimental Farm uses the following two:

1. Using cotton seed:

Stable manure,	600 pounds.
Kainit,	200 "
Acid phosphate,	800 "
Cotton seed,	400 "
One ton of	2,000 "

Acid phosphate or bone meal, 600 pounds.

Ashes,	200 "
Stable manure,	600 "
Rich earth or yard scrapings,	600 "
	2,000 "

Mr. Thos. C. Cross, of Moore county, uses the following:

Acid phosphate,	100 lbs.	$ .90
Cotton seed,	100 "	40
Stable manure,	200 "	40
Lot manure (or woods mould) 1,000 to	1,200 "	60
Ashes (or concentrated lye),	50 "	20
	1,550 "	$2.40

Now can't some of our Sampson farmers give some practical methods which they have tried? You should be willing to give each other the benefit of your experience.

TWO NON PROGRESSIVE BERRIES.

The hucklekerry and blueberry are the only ones of the popular berries, says a contemporary, that have not been improved by cultivation. Middle aged men can recall the time when the strawberry and blueberry were rather poor, common—place fruit, but they have been cultivated, grown from seed, and the result is the toothsome berries which now adorn our tables. But the huckleberry we eat now is the same which tickled the palates of our great grandfathers. Word has gone forth to improve this berry, to grow it in gardens from seed, seed, and select the variety which gives the best result. It is not generally known, but nearly all our edible plants and fruits were originally weeds, or of so inferior kind as to be scarcely fit for human use. But for countless generations man has been improving his environment, but more especially the grains and fruits upon which he now lives. The human palate itself must have been greatly improved in sensibility, owing to the difference between what fruits and vegetables were and what they are. There are those who think that this process is to go on, and that other weeds will be turned into useful plants, and that by scientific methods the quantity of food will be at length so great that no human being will ever die of starvation.—Scientific American.

When writing the above the Scientific American must have had in mind the little hard seedy New Jersey Huckleberry. The writen has evidently never tasted the large tender luscious "Sampson blue," which is now so delicious that science can probably do nothing for it but to preserve indefinitely by canning The New Jersey berry might be scientifically improved for a thousand years and still not approach in flavor the aristocratic berry of Sampson.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS ARE SAYING

Gov. Fowle at the Centeanial.

Quarters have been engaged for the Governor and his staff at the Metropolital hotel, New York, for the inauguration centennial.—Wil. Messenger.

Why We Are Poor.

"Charlotte people," as is learned by the News, "are eating beef that was killed and dressed in Kansas City, Mo." It comes packed in refrigerator cars "and all the butchers are selling it." And this in a State where grass grows in the greatest luxuriance. We ship a little cotton, then buy cotton goods from Massachusetts, buy beef from Kansas City, bacon from Cincinnati, corn from Illinois, flour from Minnesota and then sit down and wonder why it is that we are so poor.—Statesville Landmark.

Tax Bachelors.

The Chronicle cannot commend the Legislature for increasing the price of marriage license. It ought rather to have decreased the tax. Every inducement to marriage ought to be offered by the Legislators. If the State needs the revenue we favor a law that will tax bachelors—tax them so heavy that they will be glad to get married to escape the tax. The tax is now $3.00.—State Chronicle.

[The Chronicle is a married man.—ED. CAUCASIAN.]

Energy and Good Sense.

The Legislature has adjourned. Little was accomplished—there was little that we needed. What North Carolina needs she must expect and labor to secure by the energy and good sense of her sons and daughters.—Wilson Advance.

The ship canal which is to connect Manchester, England, with Liverpool, is being rapidly constructed, ten thousand men and a great number of steam excavators being engaged upon it. The canal will be thirty-five miles long, 26 feet deep and 120 feet wide at the bottom.—Wilmington Review.

DETERMINED TO MARRY.

A Rich and Racy Marriage in Halifax County.

The Scotland Neck Democrat tells of a romantic story that shows "what fools these mortals be." One day last week a young man came to that place with "sweet sixteen" young lady. It was a runaway couple. The young man had to send back to Warren county for a certificate from the girl's parents. Soon another fellow appeared on the scene. He said that the girl had promised to marry him and the other fellow eloped with her while he had gone for license to marry. Now here was a pretty howdy do. Two lovers both trying to marry the same girl. They all three sat down on a sofa—the girl in the middle. Each lover caressed the girl, each one holding with determined grasp the girl's hand and throwing his other arm around her neck. All three seemed to enjoy this hugging, for they kept it up some time, each of the fellows begging the girl to marry him. This thing kept up all day and until Sunday evening, when the girl's father arrived and put an end to the nauseating scene by deciding in favor of the fellow whose name was Jenkins. When the girl signified her willingness to marry Jenkins the other fellow embraced the girl, kissed her passionately, and said that he still loved her. The tomfoolery came to an end or a beginning (which?) by the marriage. The girl was evidently anxious to get married and was like the old maid in the story, who said, "Anybody, Lord, so it is a man."—State Chronicle.

The Scotch Irish of the United States will hold a general meeting in Columbia, Tenn., on the 8th of May. Our Zeb is one of the speakers.

There was a meeting of Union and Confederate soldiers at the Academy of Music, in New York City, one night this week with a view to aid the cause of the National Confederate Soldier's Home at Austin, Texas. Speeches were made by eminent men from both the Union and Confederate armies, and the meeting was a very harmonious one. It is thought that when all the returns of the meeting will be counted that they will foot up into the thousands. This is a noble spirit in our Northern brethren to aid the maimed and suffering of their less fortunate brethren of the South, and it is meeting with approval all over the North, and genuine appreciation at the South.

Mrs. Spencer, in her excellent little book, says in another place: "North Carolina is never in a hurry even when she is pursuing her own advantages. Our people have always been slow in co-operation. The different sections stand too much aloof, not considering that the prosperity of one aids the prosperity of all."

When we learn the folly of such a course, then North Carolina will begin to develop some of her wonderful resources and take a decent stand in the commercial and manufacturing world. It is alright for us to be proud of our record in legislative halls and on battle fields, but something else is now necessary for us to keep abreast of the age. With the proper enterprise and spirit our State could proudly step to the front. It is true we haven't as much capital as other States, but we must make it. Other States made theirs. We can do it by co operation.

U. S. SUPREME COURT JUDGE DEAD.

Stanley Matthews, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, who has been seriously ill for some time past, died last Friday. He had been sick for three weeks, although his original illness dates much further back. He was a native of Ohio, and was 65 years of age. He was the leading counsel for Hayes in Electoral Fraud Commission that stole the Presidency from Tilden. Hayes attempted to reward him in 1881 by appointing him to the position which he held at the time of his death, but Garland and Thurman lead the opposition in the Senate and that body refused to confirm the appointment. The next year Garfield reappointed him and after a long contest he was confirmed by a vote of 24 to 23. However, he has proved to be one of the best Republican Judges on the bench.

SHAME ON IT!

The Teachers' Assembly has invited Ex-President Jeff Davis to attend its meeting next summer. This fact so stirred up the bile of a correspondent of the North State that he proceeds in a cowardly manner, behind a non de plume, to villify the grand old hero—to-day one of most venerable and unique characters in the world. We suppose this non de plume correspondent must be one of the escaped animals from "Kowle's Kangarco Konvenshun" of '68. Shame on it. The Governor ought to offer a reward for its apprehension, so that it might be confined or sent to Canada, where it would find more escaped animals of the same species.

MRS. SPENCER'S HISTORY.

In our issue of the 14th we referred to a little book just published, "First Steps in North Carolina History," written by Mrs. Cornelia P Spencer of Chapel Hill. Through the courtesy of the publishes, Messrs. Alfred Williams & Co, we received a copy for examanation, which we have just finished reading. It is cleverly written and will be widely used as a valuable text book in our schools; it is to N. C. History what Barnes' Primary History is to U. S. History. The most essential feature in a Primary History is to interest and hold the attention of children. The most effective way to do this is to give simply an outline of the story of our progress in a purely narrative style, with pleasant stories of little incidents woven around the leading characters in the most important events. This inspires in the child a love for history, makes an indelible impression upon its mind of the leading points in history that will be distinctly remembered even in ripe old age.

There are more people to day who were first inspired with a love for history and who have now on their tongues' ends leading points in ancient and modern history from a reading of Abbott's interesting series of little narrative biographies from Cyrus to Napoleon than from any other books ever written.

The style of the first part of Mrs. Spencer's book is admirable for this purpose. As probably none of you have yet seen the work, we will give an extract. In giving the account of Sir Walter Raleigh's first expedition sent to North Carolina that entered the inlet near Roanoke Island in July, she says:

When they saw the great smooth sheet of water which we now call Albemarle Sound, saw the flocks of waterfowl skimming over it, saw the pleasant islands and the mainland and the beautiful and (to them) strange-looking woods full of singing birds of rare plumage, full of grapevines loaded with grapes, and full of flowers that made all the soft and sunny air sweet, they thought it was like Paradise.

The Indians came down to the shore to gaze at them, met them kindly, took them to their chief village to visit their king, and gave them the best they had to eat.

The English did not stay long. They were in a hurry to get back home and tell of this splendid, bright, fruitful country. They took with them many things which they easily bought from the Indians—furs of wild animals and specimens of native woods—the pine, the red cedar, the sassafras. They took tobacco, corn, and potatoes, none of which had ever been seen in England. They invited some of the Indians to go with them, and two did go.

And again in telling how Raleigh tried to smoke some of the tobacco and how one of his servants thought him on fire and threw a pitcher of water "over him to put him out," she says:

"Queen Elizabeth wished to try the tobacco too, and was made very sick by it. So she called up two of her maids-of-honor, and made them finish her pipe. And then, no doubt, they were all sick together.

How interesting this will be to the children of our State; they are not burdened with any unnecessary distasteful dates and figures, but are treated to a delightful story apparently told to them by Mrs. Spencer with them all together around her in her study. This fascinating style, however, is not kept up all the way through, but gradually drifts to that of the ordinary student's history. To illustrate again, we give another extract from the latter part of the book:

Our State has hitherto been almost exclusively agricultural. One natural gift points out that our greatest prosperity is yet perhaps to come from manufactures, and that is the enormous water-power distributed over our whole territory except on the seaboard. Our rivers and creeks, though we have none very large, are innumerable, unfailing, and rapid in their course. This is especially the case in the middle and mountain regions, where the descent of the streams from higher ground gives not only to the main rivers, but to every one of their branches, an immense amount of force. We probably have not the coal necessary to great manufacturing enterprise, but we have a water power in our streams equal to the labor of three million horses or the force derived from four million tons of coal.

There is considerable difference between the styles of the two paragraphs, the latter is not so well adapted to, and will not prove interesting to children.

We notice that Lodge's History of the English Colonies is one of the books of reference used. We hope Mrs. S. was not influenced in what she says about the want of educational facilities in our State, prior to the Revolution, by this author whose book is very unjust toward North Carolina. She says that as late as 1850 there was not a public library in the State except those at the . Charles L. Smith's "History of Education in North Carolina shows that there was a public library with many learned and valuable books in Edenton as early as 1725, one hundred and twenty five years previous, and the work also says that there were various schools in the state as early as 1704 and that in 1749 the legislature passed an act establishing a free school, while Mrs. Spencer's book leaves the impression that there was no school established by legislative exactment earlier than 1766.

But our article is growing too long. Upon the whole Mrs. Spencer's book is a valuable addition to North Carolina literature, and we would advise all our teachers to use it in their schools. Mrs. Spencer is the best equipped woman in the State for writing such a work and probably none could have done it better, save President Battle or Dr. Kingsbury of the Wilmington Star. We suppose she consulted with the former and if she had also consulted the latter we might have had a perfect book. The teachers and pupils of our state are under many obligations to the authoress for this book, the preparation of which must have been a work of love and pride, for our people buy and read so few books that she can certainly not be repaid in money for her research and labor in preparing it.

SENATOR E. W. KERR INTERVIEWED.

Senator E. W. Kerr was in Raleigh last week, when the Raleigh correspondent of the Wilmington Messenger elected the following information and opinion from him:

Senator Kerr, of Sampson, is here. He says that his idea as to the cause of the negro exodus is that the farmers work only four months in the year. In other words, they do not work enough. The negroes on the farm are therefore employed regularly only from March to August. The Senator says that the remedy for this is more work and steadier work on the farms. The colored labor needs to be better directed and more steadily utilized.

Senator Kerr was to day complimented upon the progress made by Sampson county. A gentleman said "I am told you ship $36,000 worth of whortleberries a year." "Make the figures $80,000 and you will be right," said the Senator.

The shipment of $80,000 worth of huckleberries is not the only thing Sampson boasts on. Our county, and especially Clinton, is making wonderful progress in many respects. If we knew who the gentlemen was, above referred to, we would send him a copy of THE CAUCASIAN, for in every issue it is pointing out with pride some industry or increased enterprise.

Y. M. C. A.

As stated in last week's CAUCASIAN the State convention of the Young Men's Christian Association convened in its 13th session in Wilmington last Thursday. There were thirty three Associations represented, numbering in all one hundred and seventy one delegates. Prof. W. A. Blair of Winston was elected President for the ensuring year. The next session will be held in Goldsboro

This very commendable organization seems to be doing good. It is hardly fifty years since the first Y. M. C. A. of the world was organized in London, and it has not been much more than thirty since they began to be organized in this country.

President Harrison has nominated Frederick D. Grant, of New York, son of General U. S. Grant, to be Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenopotentiary of the United States to Austria; and John C. New, of Indiana to be Consul-General to Lisbon.

STRAW POND.

Our last regular meeting last Saturday was an interesting one. After the Order adjourned we were favored by a lecture by Bro. Marion Butler, President of the County Alliance.

SALEM ALLIANCE.

At our last meeting last Saturday night, midnight arrived before the business was completed, so we adjourned to meet again Wednesday to finish up business before the meeting of the County Alliance.

WILSON COUNTY ALLIANCE.

We do not believe there is an Alliance in the State that works more congenially than does the Wilson County Farmers' Alliance. The membership of this Alliance are of our best and most properous farmers. The Alliance meets in regular monthly meeting on the first Friday in each month.—Wilson Advance.

BLUFF ALLIANCE.

At a regular meeting of Bluff Alliance, No. 577, it was unanimously resolved that this Alliance use not another ounce of premium guano now and forever, and it would doubtless have been of great advantage to them if they had resolved not to use any bought fertilizer six months ago and manufactured home-made manure. When farmers depend on buying guano, provisions and everything needed on a credit, they can't expect anything but a load on their "devoted" shoulders the remainder of their lives.

HOLDS OUT THE OLIVE BRANCH.

[Contributed.]

How or why any farmer can be opposed to the Farmers' Alliance is really astonishing, because it is not in opposition to any profession but offers the olive branch of peace and good will to all men. When the farmers speak out boldly as they have for sometime for equal rights, fair dealing, and justice to all, its enemies in cowardlike accents are ever ready to exclaim: "Those insignificant organized farmers can't do anything; they are too poor, and need not organize for protection." The farmers who bravely stand shoulder to shoulder, hearts and hands united in one common brotherhood, with a determination to be a unit even unto death, will eventually succeed. Let croaking members learn a lesson of patience, forbearance and brotherly love from those who are doing their duty by strictly abiding by the constitution; and I predict that the Farmers' Alliance will live throughout the succeeding years of time. There are outside friends who rejoice over its success, and speak very many words of encouragement. It is not an enemy to any profession, but is ever willing and ready to strike hands with them all. W. J. C.

RALLY UP, BRETHREN!

[Contributed.]

THE CAUCASIAN looks very becoming in its bran-new suit. One subscriber says it reminds him of his sweetheart when rigged up in her Sunday clothes. Another says it looks like his wife in her best new dress; and after so many compliments, this writer thinks all old subscribers ought to pay up and renew their subscriptions with cash accompanying each order, and then an addition of 1,600 new cash subscribers. Rally up to this call, men and brethren!

ORGANIZER'S REPORT.

On Monday, March 18th, I lectured at Subordinate Alliance, Evergreen, No 1,510, and exemplified the secret work of the Order. Tuesday, the 19th, I lectured at Clear Run Schoolhouse, and organized Clear Run Alliance, No. ——. The officers are as follows: President, Dallas Herring; Vice-President, H. K. Herring; Secretary, W. Lee Robinson; Treasurer, Columbus G. Robinson; Chaplain, John O. Herring; Lecturer, Geo. Sikes; Assistant Lecturer, J. F. Brown; Door keeper, W. E. Herring; Assistant Door-keeper, Lucien Herring. This Alliance is composed of excellent material but will never be very large in numbers, though strong, with good working members.

Wednesday, the 20th, I lectured at the School house in school district, No 61. The attendance was not very large. I did not receive name enough to organize a Subordinate Alliance.

A True Tonic.

When you don't feel well and hardly know what ails you, give B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) a trial. It is a fine tonic.

T. O. Caliahan, Charlotte, N. C., writes: "B. B. B. is a fine tonic, and has done me great good."

L. W, Thompson, Damascus, Ga., writes: "I believe B. B. B, is the best blood purifier made. It has greatly improved my general health.'

Ad old gentleman writes: "B. B. gives me new life and new strength. If there is anything that will make an old man young it is B. B. B."

P. A. Shepherd, Norfolk, Va., August 10th, 1888, writes: "I depend on B. B. B, for the preservation of my health. I have had it in my family now nearly two years, and in all that time have not had to have a doctor."

Thos. Paulk, Alapana, Ga., writes: "I suffered terribly from dyspepsia. The use of B. B. B. has made me feel like a new man. I would not take a thousand dollars for the good it has done me."

W. M. Bheshire, Atlanta, Georgia, writes: "I had a long spell of Typhoid Fever, which at last seemed to settle in my right leg, which swelled up enormously. An ulcer also appeared which discharged a cup ful of matter a day. I then gave B. B. B. a trial and it cured me."

Do you not take an interest in the development and progress of Sampson county? THE CAUCASIAN is laboring for that very purpose.

NOTICE.

LOCALS.

—The County Alliance meets next Friday, at 11 o'clock.

Ferrell & Bro. has built a tenant house on Stetson street.

—State Truckers' Association meets here next Thursday.

—Work on Mr. Warren Johnson's new building, on Fayeeteville street, is being rapidly pushed.

—The young folks enjoyed a pleasant candy shower and bean party at the College Friday night.

—There will be more truck raised around Clinton and in all Eastern Carolina this year than ever before.

—A full attendance is desired at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night as important business will come before the body.

—Mr. T. M. Ferrell has moved into his new quarters on Wall street, the stand formerly occupied by W. H. Stetson.

—Our editorial office is now in the same building as the printing office; upstairs in the J. E. Howard building on Fayetteville street.

—Capt. C. Partrick and Dr. Frank Boyette have gone into the tube rose business quite extensively. There is big money in it if properly managed.

—If anything occurs in your township that does not appear in THE CAUCASIAN, then you have yourself only to blame for not sending it to us.

—Master Allman Greggs and Edward Faison and Misses Agnes Partrick and Cornelia Ferrell were confirmed at St. Paul's church last Sunday by Bishop Watson.

—The frame work of Mr. F. T. Atkins' dwelling has been completed, and soon a handsome new residence will ornament the vacant lot between Mr. A. F. Johnson's and Dr. McKinnon's.

—Our subscribers are showing their appreciation by continueing to come in and settle up for a year in advance. Those who have not come we are sure will do so, but allow us to impress upon you the necessity for doing so promptly, as we greatly need the money.

—The members of the Sampson Light Infantry will remember that there regular monthly meeting will be on next Wednesday instead of Friday, the day having been changed on account of the State Truckers' Convention and County Farmers' Alliance, which meet here on Friday.

—We are constantly being asked, who our correspondent is from some place. We have no regular correspondent from any township. Every citizen of Sampson county should be a regular correspondent to THE CAUCASIAN, if he knows any items of news that should be published. In short, we wish every body to send us news when there is any.

—The balmy spring days have come and the man, who is a poor farmer, has just begun to think about making a crop. The good farmer, however, has been thinking about it and preparing for this year's crop for the last thirteen months, for it takes about that much work out of every year to be a successful farmer.

—The Union meeting of the Western section of the Eastern Association meets at Boykin's Chapel next Friday the 29th instant, and will contiue till Sunday. Rev. J. L. Britt will preach the Introductory Sermon on Friday. The following queries will be discussed. First, What is the Scriptural rules of giving? by Rev. L. Stewart; Second, What are the claims of the Sabbath School upon the Church? by Rev. J. L. Britt.

—Mr. J. H. Royal has greatly improved the appearance of his cosy home over Dollar's branch by giving some tasty attention to the yard. The rolling space between the dwelling and road has been divided into three terraces, each rising behind the other like theatre seats These terraces are fringed with japonicas, cactus and deer tongue, while lawn grass will cover the terraces. Six flower plants, one in the middle of each, is all that is necessary to make his yard a thing of beauty. We are fond of flowers and like to see such taste displayed. It takes but little time and is a source of pleasure not only to the owner of such yards, but to all who see them. In town the yards of Mr. J. H. Stevens is very pretty and shows much careful attention. Mr. W. G. Hubbard's yard will also soon be a very pretty one. Nine teaths of the front yards of the dwellings in town could be made just as pretty and all could be greatly improved. Shakespeare, when speaking of "the man who has no music within himself" might have added the man who has no love for flowers—at any rate if a love for flowers is a weakness, then we are proud of the weakness.

Personals.

Mr. W. S. Holmes is spending a few days in town.

Mr. C. M. Hobbs went to Wilmington Sunday on business.

Miss Florence Faison of Elliott is visiting at Capt. W. L. Faison's.

Mr. N. Z. Graves, of Philadelphia, is in town, stopping at Mrs. Margaret Johnson's.

Dr. B. F. Marable was in town Sunday to fill his regular appointment at the Presbyterian church.

Right Rev. Bishop Watson of the Eastern diocese of North Carolina filled the pulpit of St. Pauls church last Sabbath, preaching two learned sermons.

We were pleased to see Mr. Matt Herring, who has been confined to his bed for some months with a protracted spell of fever, in town last week.

Mr. W. G. Rackley, one of Clinton's large merchants, left last Monday for the Northern markets to purchase his spring and summer stock of goods.

Mr. J. L. Clute returned Saturday from Petersburg, Va., where he had been for Mr. Johnson to have some special pieces of machinery made for the Carolina Veneer Works.

Treasurer J. R. Beaman, who has been confined to his bed for two weeks with pneumonia, is nearly convalescent. We were pleased to see him on the streets Tuesday.

Mr. W. R. King, of the firm of W. R. King & Co., is confined to his room with a slight fever. We hope soon to see him at his place of business again.

EDITOR CONGRATULATED.

The Caucasian the first read out of four or five papers.

Faison, N. C., March 23, 1689.

Mr. Editor: Will you accept of a few items from Piney Grove by one who has held his piece for some time. But first let me congratulate you, not only for the improvement of THE CAUCASIAN in the print, but also on its general make up, and especially on your editorials on fertilizers. Such reading matter as this is practable and ought to do good and I know will. We are always anxious to get THE CAUCASIAN and is always the first read by the first one that gets the mail, although we take four or five others.

W. I. L.

Knows How to Get Up a Good Paper.

We noticed quite an improvement in the make-up in the two last numbers of the Clinton CAUCASIAN. It has donned a new dress and is now printed on a new Campbell power press. Bro. Butler knows how to get up a good paper, and we hope that the good people of Clinton and Sampson county will fully appreciate his enterprise.—Goldsboro Headlight.

Armory Sampson Light Infantry.

Clinton, N. C.
March, 30th 1880.

Owing to the meetings of the County Alliance and State Trucker's Association at Clinton on the first Friday in April, the regular monthly meetings and drill of the Sampson Light Infantry is ordered on Wednesday the 3d of April at the usual hour.

W. L. FAISON, Captain

Reunion of Co. A, 61st Regiment, Clingman's Brigade, Hoke's Division, C. S. A.

Many of the survivors of Company A, 61st Regiment, N. C. Troops, C. S. A. Call for a reunion on the 19th day of April next, to meet in Clinton at 12 M., on that date.

Captain.

The Best Paper that Goes to His Office.

WILLARD, N. C., March.

The few people who take the CAUCASIAN in this section are greatly pleased with the improvement. In fact, Mr. R. T. Riventark, postmaster here, says that it is the best paper that comes to his office. S.

Mr. Rouse Has the Outlaw's Gun.

MR. EDITOR: You can inform Mr. Hunter that Mr. Rouse, a brickmason of Goldsboro, has the gun that Henry Berry Lowry had while he was outlawed. Mr. Rouse showed me the gun. It had "H. B. L." cut on the breech. I guess the proprietor of the museum would be glad to get it. W. J. L.

HONEYCUTTS.

Mr. J. H. Turlington sustained a painful hurt while at work at his saw-mill last Thursday. He was sharpening the saw when some hands engaged in putting a log upon the carriage pushed the latter along and caught his leg between it and the saw. He was badly cut and bruised, but fortunately the bone was not broken. Dr. A. T. Cooper was called in and dressed the wound.

L.

Mr. Editor: What will become of this country if things go on as they are now? It seems to me that there will be no one to till the soil. Most every boy and young man is trying to get into some kind of business—a clerk, a school-teacher, a doctor, a lawyer, or some kind of business—to keep from tilling the soil. The old men are wearing out, and will soon be gone, and no one will be left to till the ground. Everybody can't be merchants, school-teachers, lawyers and doctors. Where do they get their support from? Why they get it from a few of the old broken down farmers, who have to bear the hot scorching sun, and toil for their support. The farmers support those who are living on fine luxury, and wearing fine clothes. Where does all this come from? Just think of it! I must say that it comes from the "poor old farmer." Every cent of money that is made comes from the soil; still they are looked up by those that do not have to till the ground, as a low down class of people. "The poor old broken down farmers run the whole world."

Now, a few words to the girls: I must say that they have partly gone astray on the fashion question. It seems so me that a great many of them think of nothing but dressing. If they see a young man with fine clothes on, and tender hands, and a gold watch chain, and is about half drunk, he is the very man for them. Now, girls, this will not do. Look ye out a man that is sober, truthful, honest and is willing to till the soil. It matters not if he is sun-burnt, and has hard rough hands, he will do to tie to. Girls, you must learn to handle the pots, to iron, to sew, to knit, and to cook. It is no disgrace. This country will never be any better off until one learns to do all this. God said: "Man should eat bread by the sweat of his face, till thou return unto the ground, from whence thou came, for dust thou art, and unto dust thou shalt return." Therefore, the Lord sent him from the garden of Eden to till the ground. So you see that man was made to till the ground. Just stop, and think awhile, and see who it is keeping up the whole world, keeping up the merchants, the lawyers, and the doctors, and all these fine dressed agents, and last of all the whiskey sellers. Who is to blame for this? The merchant? The lawyer? The doctor? No! The "poor old farmers." Let us try to do better and keep ourselves up, and let them go. SNAP.

Mr. J. K. Sessoms of Owenville has been visiting friends and relatives in this section.

Rev. J. E. Bristowe preached an execellent sermon at the Baptist church at White Oak last Sunday.

"BROWN JUG."

Mr. George Cooper's dwelling near Huntley is nearly completed.

LITTLE COHARIE.

Miss Levonia C. Fowler, passed through Owenville the 19 inst., on a return from visiting her many friends around Hives.

Mr. J. L. Warren has returned home from guarding the convicts, for the purpose of making a crop.

Our young merchant recently took a trip to Newton Grove, for the purpose of taking a young lady home, but after leaving he found that he would have to take "ladies", and a large "valise," though he drove the distance in about three hours, but on the return he had only one lady and it took him about six hours to drive the same distance.

We think that the materimonial market will soon be on a boom from the way the young ladies are having "quiltings."

The most important news of this section is that of a new mail rout started from Hayne to Owenville. The rout will be known as "Fisher's Short Cut." "PLUG."

A certain handsome young(?) lawyer of Clinton, who spent last week in our township, says that the most important ties over here are crossties In fact, he says that he has about concluded that he can make no other kind.

PINEY GROVE (TOWNSHIP.)

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Stephen King, Mr. H. K. Darden to Miss Minnie King, Nathan Weeks, J. P., officiating. The following were the attendants; Mr. Henry Darden and Miss Lula King; Mr. Junius Lewis and Miss Bettie Darden; Mr. Graham Darden and Miss Nannie King; Mr. Samuel Hobbs and Miss Katie Darden. A pleasant reception was given the same evening at Mrs. Catherine Newton, where the bride and groom will make their home.

Miss Lou Clute has a good school at Oakdale Academy near Piney Grove Church. She has 42 scholars with an average attendance of 30 and not a free school either. We are not behind in every enterprise for did you know we had a crate factory? Henry E. Brewer manufactures bean crates by thousands. He runs two circular steam saws a large one and a small one alternately. The whistle of the engine and the hum of the saw is heard daily.

Please correct in 10th paragraph on township progress from P. G. There are now seven pleaces of business at Giddensville where there were only three last year. Also Mrs. Bennett Brewer instead of Mrs. Brown's dwelling, &c.

NEW BARBER SHOP.

When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on me at my saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
I cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
My room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen,
And everything I think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all my art and skill can do
If you just call, I'll do for you.
PAUL SHERARD,
The Clinton Barber.

CLINTON, N. C.,—MAR. 28, 1889.

A BAG FACTORY FOR CONCORD.

Your correspondent had a very interesting interview to day with Mr. Will Kerr, son of the late State Geologist, Prof. W. C. Kerr. Mr. Kerr has since last October lived in Chicago and left for that city to day. He is a very bright young man and is an inventor of marked ability. He invented the new famous bag marking machine, which is in operation at Durham and which turns out 100,000 bags a day at the factory there.

Mr. Kerr, goes to Chicago to build the plant for the big bag factory at Concord. This will be ready by September 1. The factory will have on several of its floors 16,000 spindles, operated by a 400 horse power engine. On one floor will be the bag works. These will make all kinds of bags, from a three pounds salt bag to heavy burlap bags. The bags will be made and printed in colors at one operation. The cotton will in this factory literally go from bale to bag. All the processes, two in all, are covered by Mr. Kerr's patents. The factory at Concord will not only work up the product of its 16,000 spindles, but also the entire product of the Cannons factory there—Raleigh Cor. Wil. Messenger.

A Hundred Tons of Money.

It hardly seems possible that the money paid in one moath for a ten cent article, could, is pennies were used in payment, weigh one hundred tons. Yet one of our bright school boys has figured that this is true of Diamond Dyes. To judge from the stocks of our dealers in dye stuffs, Diamond Dyes own the field of package dyes, and are a complete success. Of course they have imitators. "Nothing is a success until imitated." But no one wants to risk a counterfeit when the genuine can be obtained at the same price. Three new colors have lately been added to the list of Diemond Dyes: Fast Stocking Black, Turkey Red for Cotton, and Brown for Cotton. The manufactures, Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., will send colored samples of these new dyes, with book of directions, to any address, free of charge. These additions seem to have made the line so complete that any shade can be matched with some color of Diamond Dyes. The beautiful sample book of shaded colors, lately sent to all dealers in dyes, will delight the eye of any lady. "It's easy to dye Diamond Dyes," is so absolutely true that home dyeing is no longer a difficult and disagreeable task. Almanacs, with their hints as to proper times for different work, tell us that now is the time for Spring dyeing. This, together with the thought of that hundred tons of money, leads us to ask what school boy can figure how many thousands of ladies are now saying that this is the time to use Diamond Dyes.

CONFLICTING OPINIONS ON MATRIMONY.

I saw three curious things in the Public Library the other day; but the best thing I saw was a pencil marginal note to an article in December's Forum. The passage in the text read:

"To marry is not an obligation, as might be thought from current talk. It is purely optional. He who refrains from wedlock and fatherhood cannot, in the overcrowded state of the globe, be charged with a violation of a duty to his fellows." The marginal note, in a woman's handwriting, ran thus: "The globe is not overcrowded and never can be; and the man who does not leave a life in his place as he leaves this globe is a common murderer."—Chicago Journal.

THE ORPHAN'S HOME.

Rev. L. B. Payne, Agent and Trustee of the Orphan's Home at Macon, Ga., Writes a Letter Dated February 5th, 1889.

"I have been using Swift's Specific with the children of the Orphan's Home under my charge with the best results. I began its use between nine and ten years ago, and have seen many remarkable results.

Quite a number of the children had constitutional blood diseases resulting from the sins of the parents, and every one of these children were cured of the horrible taint by the use of S. S. S.

There have also been scores of children in the institution whose systems (they having been mostly without the benefits of parental care) were enervated by dirt eating and other foul practices. Every one of these children have taken S. S. S. and all have been signally benefitted by it. All have been cured who have taken enough of it. We have also two inmates of the Home subject to painful recurring attacks of erysipelas. Neither one improved under the treatment usual for the disease. When all other medicine was discarded and they took S. S. S. the cure in each case was quick and permanent, for they have been well for five years and there has been no return of the disease. I could tell much more of the remarkable cures of blood disease by S. S. S., for I have seen it used and know its value.

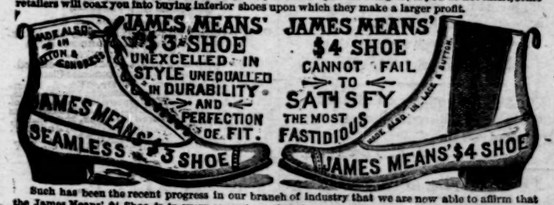
JAMES MEANS' $3 & $4 SHOES

"Competition is the Life of Trade," and if you have not seen our latest improved goods you cannot imagine how lively trade is, or how hard our competitors have to work to keep within sight of us. Ask your retailer for the James Means' $3 Shoe, or the James Means' $4 Shoe according to your needs.

Positively none genuine unless having our name and price stamped plainly on the soles. Your retailer will supply you with shoes so stamped if you insist upon his doing so; if you do not insist, some retailers will coax you into buying inferior shoes upon which they make a larger profit.



JAMES MEANS'
$3 SHOE
UNEXCELLED IN STYLE UNEQUALLED IN DURABILITY AND PERFECTION OF FIT.
SEAMLESS $3 SHOE
JAMES MEANS'
$4 SHOE
CANNOT FAIL TO SATISFY THE MOST FASTIDIOUS
JAMES MEANS' $4 SHOE

Such has been the recent progress in our branch of industry that we are now able to affirm that the James Means' $4 Shoe is in every respect equal to the shoes which only a few years ago were retailed at eight or ten dollars. If you will try on a pair you will be convinced that we do not exaggerate. Ours are the original $3 and $4 Shoes, and those who imitate our system of business are unable to compete with us in quality of factory products. In our lines we are the largest manufacturers in the United States.

Shoes from our celebrated factory are sold by wide-awake retailers in all parts of the country. We will place them easily within your reach in any State or Territory if you will invest one cent in a postal card and write to us.

THE CAUCASIAN,

A WEEKLY
DEMOCRATIC NEWSPAPER, PUBLISHED AT
CLINTON, N. C.
MARION BUTLER, Editor and Proprietor.

Our Paper is now printed with new type on a new Campbell Power-Press.

ITS MOTTO
PURE DEMOCRACY AND WHITE SUPREMACY.

PURE DEMOCRACY.

THE CAUCASIAN is a Cleveland Democrat—belives in first reducing the Tariff to a revenue basis and then dealing with the Internal Revenue. It believes in cheap bread, cheap clothes and cheap tools, which will leave us enough clear profit to educate our children without being enervated with Federal bounties, which we believe to be simply a Radical trick for keeping up a high protective tariff.

We believe in the prosperity of forty-nine millions even if it should work to the detriment of one million.

WHITE SUPREMACY.

We are forever in favor of the present system of County Government as long as there is a single county that is saved by it from African and Scallawag rule. We will forever preach that this is a CAUCASIAN GOVERNMENT, founded by the courage, framed by the wisdom and won by the Patriotism of white men, for the benefit of all citizens alike. Therefore it is of right, ought to be and must be MANAGED BY WHITE MEN ONLY.

THE CAUCASIAN,

"One of the handsomest weeklies papers in the State."—Wilmington Messenger.

For the last twelve months has spent money freely for various improvements, with the fixed determination to become the best local paper in North Carolina, and no further effort within our power will be spared till we are convinced by the grateful support of 3,000 subscribers that we have reached and passed that goal.

THE CAUSCAIAN

contains the most important FOREIGN NEWS, a brief statement of important NATIONAL NEWS, a fuller account of STATE NEWS, and a detailed statement of COUNTY NEWS.

As a proof that we are doing this we again quote from the Wilmington Messenger:

"THE CAUCASIAN is the fullest and about the best of all our exchanges, and pays more attention to local matters in the county by townships, than any of its cotemporaries."

Clinton and Wilmington markets carefully reported each week.

PRICE OF SUBSCRIPTION:

THE CAUCASIAN

One year, (52 copies)	$1.50
Six months, (26 copies)	.75
Four months, (17 copies,)	.50

We insist upon your subscription when your name is entered on the list, for it enables us to give you a better paper.

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

THE CAUCASIAN has now 1,400 bona fide subscribers, besides we are constantly sending out large numbers of sample copies.

We have agents in the field and our subscription list is daily increasing. We have now, we think, a larger subscription list than all the other papers that come to this county combined. Therefore no advertising medium can be found to compare with it.

Notwithstanding these facts, we will for the next twelve months give cheaper rates than any other paper with equal circulation in Eastern Carolina.
